East Point.

Some times I take up the local paper (no criticism on the paper) and read that the members of church no and so held a supper, tacky social or something of the kind to raise funds in the interest of the church. This kind of church work seems to be prevalent among all denominations of the present time. But when I take up my bible I cannot find where it says that Paul or any of the other apostles or any of the early churches ever raised funds in this way. In writing to the brethren Paul does not say hold a tacky social or a supper for the benefit of the church but he says: "Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I have given order to the churches of Galatia, even so do ye. Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God prospered him that there be no gatherings when I come." Again the apostle says: Every man according as he purposed in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity "for God loveth a cheerful giver."

If I take up a history of the Reformation, I do not find that Martin Luther or any of those Christian heroes attempted to spread the light of the gospel by means of any such fund-raising. Because he openly denounced the corruptions, frivolities and worldliness of Catholicism was the reason Luther was excommunicated by the church of Rome. Oh! how they hated him for this one thing.

If I take up the works of Wesley I find that he, with the members of the church of that age, held a doctrine opposing all worldly conformity. To imagine any of those holy men and women of the past engaging in any of these modern inventions would be simply absurd.

Yet God does not require a more holy life in the people of one age than he does of another. The bible standard is the one to which all are required to measure.

A few weeks ago I noticed in the News that a bill for the preservation of forests had been introduced into the Legislature of Kentucky. It is to be hoped that this will become a law. A fragment from an old proverb comes across my mind: "With hoary locks alone I stand and sigh for all the loved and lost. Thy monarch of a barren land. By storm and tempest tossed." Such was the pathetic language of the old oak, robbed of his companions of the forest. Those utterances may never be fulfilled in our land yet the tendency is in that direction. A hundred years have wrought a great change in the "forest primeval," the most of which was perhaps necessary. Yet there should be a limit. What will the next hundred years bring forth? I think it would be a benefit to the people if some would discuss this question for us from a scientific standpoint.

DO IT TO DAY. The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'til tomorrow what you can do today," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it today." That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it today—and let that remedy be Dr. Roscoe's German Syrup, which has been in use for thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough and cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size 75c. At all druggists.

Of the Supreme Court of Ohio, Had La Grippe—Praises Peruna.

Dr. Hartman is receiving hundreds of letters every day about his famous remedy for La Grippe. Ordinary remedies seem of no use. Peruna is the only remedy that entirely eradicates this stubborn disease from the system.

Hon. Josiah B. Allen, Clerk of the Supreme Court of Ohio, writes Dr. Hartman on the subject of La Grippe as follows:

COLUMBUS, O., April 16, 1907. The Peruna Medicine Co.: Gentlemen—I have been afflicted with a disease, commonly known as La Grippe, every winter since that disease was discovered. I have tried many remedies without success. This spring I was induced to try a bottle of Peruna. I have now taken two bottles and have received much benefit therefrom. In fact, all symptoms of the disease seem to have left me. Therefore I cheerfully recommend the virtues of Peruna.

Yours truly, JOSIAH B. ALLEN.
